BIOGRAPHY

Esther Afia Okai is a Ghanaian-born Gospel singer based in the United States. She was born in Agona-Wiamoase, Ghana. Esther was raised in a Christian home and grew up singing in her church choir. Her love for music led her to pursue a career in music, and she began performing at local events and concerts in Ghana.

In 1996, Esther moved to the United States to further her music career. During her time in North Carolina, she continued to perform at local events and churches, gaining a following for her powerful and soulful voice.

In 2021, Esther released her debut album, "Nyame Otease," which received critical acclaim and cemented her place in the Gospel music scene. The album features a mix of contemporary and traditional Gospel songs, showcasing Abigail's versatility as a singer.

Since the release of her debut album, Esther has become a sought-after performer, and has been invited to sing at various events and concerts across the United States. She has also collaborated with other Gospel artists, both in the United States and Ghana.

In addition to her music career, Esther is also a devoted mother and wife. She is married to a noble man, and together they have three children, two boys (twins) and a girl. Esther is known for her strong faith and her commitment to using her music to inspire and uplift others.

Esther Afia Okai continues to be a rising star in the Gospel music industry, and her powerful voice and heartfelt lyrics have touched the lives of many. She is a testament to the power of music to bring people together and to spread messages of hope and love.
